HENRY C. BERGHOFF
CASHIER

A YEAR OLD

This Bank has just completed its first year. As we look back we feel nothing but satisfaction at having started it. Our most sanguine expectations have been more than fulfilled. That there was room for this bank its success has abundantly demonstrated. Seldom if ever has a financial institution been established on so firm a basis in so short a time. Of course, we are very proud of our Bank, proud of its success, proud of its reputation, and proud of the men that are identified with it. We shall always guard and protect its good name as we would our own. We shall always keep in mind our motto: "Be conservative and safe but enterprising and accommodating."

THEO. WENTZ
FIRST VICE-PRESIDENT

W H Y W A S I T ?

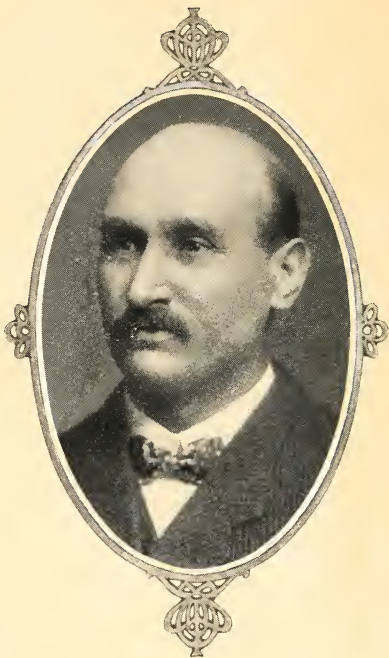

It is an easy matter to account for the success with which this bank has met. From the start it merited and received the confidence of the public. Our opening day broke all records. On that day we took in over one hundred thousand dollars, but what was better, we opened over eight hundred accounts. No bank ever started with so much good will. Even those people who did not open accounts with us, the patrons of other banks, wished us well. Our location, central but quiet, appealed to the public. Many people prefer doing their banking business away from the noise and bustle of the pushing crowds. Our beautiful modern room excited the interest of the community and those who came to admire soon came to feel more at home here than elsewhere.

CHARLES F. PFEIFFER
SECOND VICE-PRESIDENT

Our Savings Department

A Savings Department in a National Bank was a new thing to Fort Wayne, but the moment it was mentioned, the public took to it. Our commodious quarters made it possible to install this department without encroaching upon the other portions of our business. In this department deposits are received in any amount from $1 00 to $300.00. It is not intended for very large deposits. The idea is to provide a place where people can deposit their savings and have them protected by all the safe guards of the National Banking System. Interest at the ruling rate is computed every six months,—on the first day of January and July of each year—on money that has been on deposit four full calendar months. You can either draw the interest or have it added to the principle. We furnish in this department a handsome metal savings bank free of charge. For the convenience of our patrons this department is open Saturday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

HENRY BEADELL
DIRECTOR

OUR OFFICERS

The direct management of this bank has been in the hands of men who felt a vital interest in its success and who were willing to make sacrifices to achieve this end. Its president has given it a large portion of his time and during the first year has served without any salary. The cashier brought to the duties of the office a large experience in financial matters, having been for many years treasurer of the city of Fort Wayne, and later City Comptroller for four years, and still later for four years mayor of our city. The 1st vice-president has been active in the banking business a large part of his life, and his thorough familiarity with all the details of banking was of great value to the new institution. Our 2d vice-president, a man of very wide acquaintance, has placed himself at the bank's service at all times, and has thus been able to add greatly to its strength. All the officers and employees of this bank are under bond of from one to ten thousand dollars.

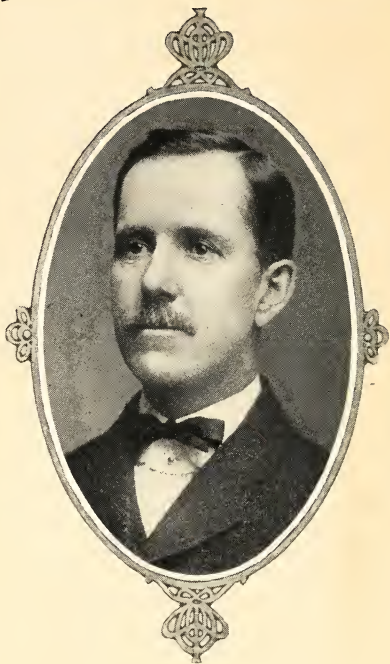

GUSTAVE A. BERGHOFF
DIRECTOR

3 1833 02594 9360

OUR DIRECTORS

We have "a Board of Directors that directs." On the different pages of this pamphlet you will recognize the faces of many men whose business energy and sagacity have done so much to bring Fort Wayne to the front and keep it there. This Bank is proud of its Board of Directors. Twice a month its members meet and go carefully over the affairs of the bank, keeping informed of what is being done and aiding the officers by their suggestions and advice. Every director has shown his loyal interest in the bank, and much of its success has been due to the vigorous and unselfish support given to it by the successful men of affairs that constitute the Board.

CHRISTOPHER R. COLMEY
DIRECTOR

OUR STOCKHOLDERS

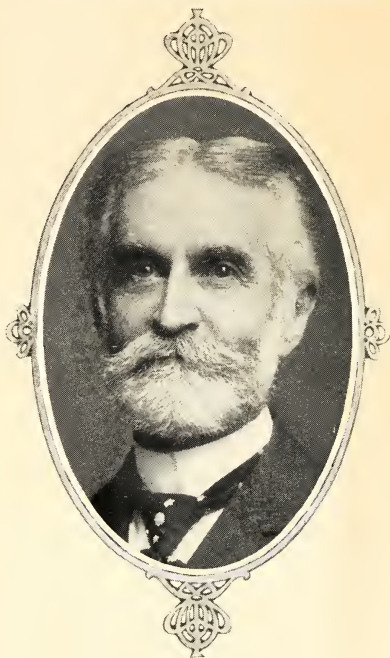

One of the important elements in a National Bank is to have a large number of well-to-do stockholders. In clear weather they bring business and influence to the bank and in a financial storm give increased security to its depositors. The stockholders should be able to pay any assessment that misfortune may make it necessary to collect, and no one should own so much stock as to be unable to pay his part "if the worse came to worst." The stock of this bank is distributed among nearly two hundred of our leading farmers and business men, none of whom own a very large amount. To the active interest which our stockholders have taken, the success of this bank has been largely due. We trust they will always feel proud that they had a hand in establishing it. A list of our stockholders and also of our first day depositors will be found on the pages following.
